FELLOWS FESTIVAL WORKSHOPS

Saturday 14 May 2022

You'll be asked to sign up for your choice of workshop on arrival, so do take a look at which you might like to attend. The workshops last 40 minutes and are offered twice during the day.

Journey to the future: where do we want to go and what will help us to travel? | Philip Room

The future doesn't just happen, it's up to us all to create it. Looking forward from today, join us as we ask what futures we want to see, and as we explore what we, as changemakers, should be taking with us on these journeys.

What changes do we want to see? | Romney Room

Together, we want to see our planet restored to support all living things; our places enabling communities to flourish; and our people experiencing good work, rich education, lifelong learning opportunities, and economic security. Join this workshop to discuss routes for change.

How change happens? | Tavern Room

The RSA's Living Change approach is how we support people, communities, organisations and systems to tackle complex challenges and shape better futures. Join our interactive workshop and pop-up gallery to learn about our approach.

RSA Engage | The Steps

Fellows will be sharing their social change projects helping to build better futures for people, place and planet. You'll be able to discuss ideas, ask questions and offer your expertise in support.

RSA History | Long Gallery

Join our Historian in Residence, Anton Howes for an illuminating presentation of some historic achievements of the RSA Fellowship over the years.
